

How does it work?

- Blocks a neurotransmitter called Glutamate
- Glutamate is important in signaling pain signals from spinal chord to the brain
- User experience a K-hole

Additional Resources

National Geography segment on the K-hole

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zXcgUhpvwOg>

KETAMINE

Spring 2014
By Drumil B.

What is it?

- Anesthetic (pain killer) used in some types of surgeries
 - Makes user feel detached
 - Produces hallucinations
 - Gives feeling of Euphoria

How is the drug used?

- Can be taken orally, snorted, or injected
 - Swallowing takes longer for drug to act on body
 - Snorting takes effect within 10-15 min
 - Injecting has instant effects

Is it dangerous?

- Extremely rewarding effects make it very addictive
- Increased likelihood of risk taking activity
- Impaired memory
- Urinary tract problems

