

What Is LSD?

Where you Can Get Help:

LSD is a hallucinogen most often taken orally to experience a high also known as a “trip.”

If you or anyone around you has a drug problem and wants to get better, these resources are here to help.

National Referral Hotline

-Someone is available 24 hours/day, 7 days/week to direct you to an LSD addiction treatment program close to you

Call TODAY: 1-888-299-8125

Common Effects of LSD Use:

- Altered perception of reality
- Paranoia
- Decreased heart rate
- Nausea
- Dizziness

Psychologists

-Often times, a trained psychologist can help determine the underlying cause of the addiction and can offer behavioral therapy to assist the individual in returning to normal day-to-day activities